HUMAN TRAFFICKING OF MINORS TRAINING - MAY 15, 2014

Did you know that according the Florida DCF, young women aging out of the foster care system and/or entering the juvenile justice system are at considerably higher risk than their peers at becoming involved in human trafficking? Human trafficking is considered to be one of the fastest growing criminal industries in the world. Violence and coercion is regularly used among vulnerable youth to commercially sexually exploit young women, girls and boys. The face of the trafficker continues to change to an unsuspecting individual. Would you recognize trafficking and know what to do?

This post conference will bring together many different disciplines and address varied responses to Human Trafficking. The morning will consist of presentations from various Florida Departments on the efforts in Human Trafficking. Additionally, a panel of Human Trafficking experts representing different disciplines in the field will discuss their human trafficking efforts and successes.

The afternoon will consist of four workshop options:

■ Survivor led workshop
■ Law enforcement led workshop focusing on community level empowerment activities to identify local core issues
■ Provider led workshop focusing on vulnerable at risk populations - DCF, DJJ, LGBTQ, and the homeless
■ Human Trafficking 101

This comprehensive post conference is designed to help build an understanding among professionals, law enforcement officers, educators, child welfare workers, service providers, and anyone else who wants to make a positive impact in the lives of adolescents. Each participant will better understand how to focus on awareness, identification, and practical strategies in Human Trafficking.

After attending this session, participants will be able to: better understand Human Trafficking, identify the signs and symptoms of a trafficker and a victim, and build a network resource base for assistance in the future.

Who benefits from this training?

The intended audience for the Human Trafficking Training course includes: state agencies, local case workers, local law enforcement agencies, and community and faith-based groups parents, family members, caregivers, school personnel, direct care professionals, business leaders, faith communities, law enforcement, state policymakers, and volunteers.

The conference will provide opportunities for collaboration with the hopes of sharing and creating fresh resources for those serving children and adolescents.
