Welcome to the Florida Sheriffs Association's Annual Guide to Government – a special edition of The Sheriff's Star magazine.

Each year, we compile volumes of information on state government to keep our members informed and to promote better communication between law-abiding citizens and state lawmakers. You'll find helpful biographical information, contact phone numbers and addresses for correspondence in this one comprehensive guide.

As is our tradition, the back of the magazine is reserved for regular features including the Legislative Preview of Law Enforcement Issues and an especially helpful "Criminal Justice Legislation Historical Report."

You can count on your Florida Sheriffs to play an active role in representing public safety concerns to decision-makers in Tallahassee. We will continue our long-standing tradition of being present in the halls of the Capitol when critical decisions are being made which can affect the well-being of you and your family.

A thanks to members

As we enter this new millennium, it is gratifying to see the high level of support for law enforcement in our communities and statewide. Our members are a vocal group – never hesitating to keep this Association in line and at the same time coming to the Florida Sheriffs defense when we need it most.

If it wasn't for our members, we wouldn't be one of the largest law-enforcement organizations in the nation. We wouldn't be able to bring the Sheriffs and their command staffs together twice a year to network and discuss important issues at our conferences. And we certainly would not have been able to begin an expansion on our offices, which we expect to have completed by fall of this year.

I would like to express my deepest gratitude to you, on behalf of the 67 Sheriffs and thousands of law-enforcement personnel in our state. Thank you for making it a great century. We look forward to continued service in the year 2000 and beyond.

A message from Guy Tunnell, President Florida Sheriffs Association

As we stand poised on the doorstep of a new century, there is much that we – the Florida Sheriffs Association – have accomplished. We have created a strong, cohesive force of law-enforcement leaders statewide. We are recognized by our legislative leaders as “the source” for hard-nosed facts and information on the problems facing law enforcement and the criminal justice system. We have excelled in crafting a force which, while remaining independent of each other, comes together as a single, statewide law-enforcement body to tackle challenges caused by disasters and to organize statewide task force missions to combat specific criminal issues.

There are, however, new challenges looming on the horizon of the new century; difficult issues and activities which will require our steadfast attention and our continued mutual cooperation. Florida – the state and the people we serve – is changing dramatically and will continue to do so. The law-enforcement services which we provided a generation ago are nowhere near the services that are demanded now. And who knows what will be asked of us in the future.

A look back

We are fortunate that our previous leadership demonstrated great wisdom in their philosophies over the years. The ongoing strategy has been to thoughtfully build a solid foundation for the future while dealing with present issues. Leaders and members have come and gone, but many of those who have gone continue to be an active and vibrant asset to this association – to law enforcement and to the people of Florida.

Each of us can probably name one of these valuable contributors from our own observations. As an example, I would hold up Charlie Abbott, a former Bay County Sheriff, whose efforts after leaving office have created a rich legacy for us to follow. Charlie saw the need for better trained personnel and his name has become synonymous with law enforcement training and education throughout Florida and the Southeast. (See related article, page 52.)

Future agenda

It is common for a new leader to come into an organization (be it private, commercial or governmental) with the intention of making sweeping changes in philosophies and priorities. This is not my plan as I assume the office of President of the Florida Sheriffs Association. It will be my goal to continue building on the solid foundations laid by those who served so effectively before me.

As I mentioned, we have made great strides in the areas of legislation which affect the practice of law enforcement (see related story on Crime Fighting Legislation, page 55). Through our cooperative efforts with legislators, we have crafted the necessary statutes and systems which provide tools for law enforcement to carry out their mission: To preserve, protect and defend the safety of Floridians and our many visitors. We will continue to work in this effort – looking to future problems and offering our expertise in legislation to best meet our objectives.

We will also begin a parallel effort to provide support for those men and women who enforce the laws and protect our citizens. It is a disgrace that many of those who put their lives on the line for others – and especially those who are disabled in the course of their work – must retire at poverty levels. It is past time for us to be as concerned about those who carry out our enforcement as we are in the creation of laws to curtail crime and protect our citizens.

This year the Florida Sheriffs will propose a plan to enhance the retirement benefits governing law-enforcement personnel. Our primary objective will be the increase in line of duty disability income benefits from the present 42% of the officer's salary to a more equitable 65% of that salary. We will also strongly urge that a retroactive 3% high-risk retirement benefit be instated to cover those years where law enforcement officers received only a 1.5 or 2% retirement benefit. If successful, we will be providing for a number of officers nearing retirement – allowing them to anticipate their retirement years without trepidation.

These are building blocks we will place on earlier foundations. I look forward to working with you to attain these objectives for all of us and for the people of the great state we have the honor to serve.

★ STAR BRIEF

Sheriffs Make an Appeal for Citizens to Get Involved

Twice a year, many residents of Florida receive a letter from their local Sheriff. But it's not to tell them they're in trouble with the law. Instead, the Sheriffs are inviting their constituents to become members of the Florida Sheriffs Association.

FSA is a not-for-profit 501(c)3 corporation made up of the 67 Sheriffs of Florida, business leaders and citizens throughout the state.

The majority of Sheriffs will tell you that they personally credit the work of the Florida Sheriffs Association for many positive trends related to public safety in our state. Through FSA, they are able to convince lawmakers to build more prison beds, increase the minimum of time served and more recently to modify Sentencing Guidelines, which prevented many career criminals from ever seeing the inside walls of a state prison.

Recent reports say that crime has declined in Florida. Our state's Sheriffs are quick to point out that credit should go to the law makers who have supported public safety issues, including the Stop Turning Out Prisoners (STOP) legislation and repeat offender laws.

In spite of these accomplishments over the last few years, our chief law enforcement officers contend, there is still much work to be done.

Through the Florida Sheriffs Association, the 67 Sheriffs of Florida are given a forum to urge lawmakers to push for positive changes in the criminal justice system in our state. FSA also provides Sheriffs' Offices badly needed programs such as affordable training, special task forces and legislative and legal services. Because FSA unites the efforts of all Sheriffs' Offices in the state, the result is a significant cost savings for better quality policing.

Florida residents who want to take a proactive approach in the fight against crime, and who are not already members, may join the Florida Sheriffs Association for just $20 annually. Members receive bimonthly issues of The Sheriff's Star magazine, including this annual edition, and The Rancher, a quarterly publication which details what's happening inside the Florida Sheriffs Youth Ranches. FSA is both founder and an active partner of the Youth Ranches, which focuses on the prevention of juvenile delinquency through its residential child care and camping facilities and community-based services.

For their donation, members also receive an honorary member shield and bumper sticker to show they're a supporter of law enforcement in their county.

If you are not already a member and are interested in joining the Florida Sheriffs Association, you can pick up an FSA membership brochure at your County Sheriff's Office. Or, you can mail your name, address and check for $20 to: Membership, Florida Sheriffs Association, P.O. Box 12519, Tallahassee, FL 32317-2519.

Membership in the Florida Sheriffs Association is also a great gift to give family members and friends.

Please help us preserve Florida's future. Support the Florida Sheriffs Association with your own membership and by giving membership to friends and family. It's the best way to support crime fighting efforts in the state.

THE SENATE

Senators in alphabetical order

Members of the Florida Senate are listed in two ways — first in alphabetical order by name; and then in numerical order by districts. If you are looking for a Senator and you don't know the name or the district number, perhaps you can identify the district by consulting the map on page 15.

(Please note: Last phone number under each name is Tallahassee office number.)

★ STAR BRIEF

Youth Scholarship Fund Established in Volusia County

In life, he was a prominent Volusia County businessman and civic leader with a big heart and a soft spot for helping young people. After his death, James O. Taylor is once again giving a helping hand to underprivileged kids, thanks to a scholarship fund established in his name by the Volusia Sheriff's Youth Foundation.

"Jimmy was one of those types of individuals who did a lot for kids," Volusia County Sheriff Bob Vogel said. "Not only did he exercise his belief in youngsters, but he really fulfilled that by stepping up to the plate and doing something for them."

Now, the Volusia Sheriff's Youth Foundation – which Taylor helped found – is keeping up the tradition. Through the Foundation's James O. Taylor Memorial Scholarship Fund, $1,000 annually will be contributed to the Florida Sheriffs Youth Ranches. The money will enable five underprivileged youths in Volusia County each year to spend a week of summer camp at the youth Camp in Barberville.

"It is with a lot of pleasure and pride that the Foundation recognizes Jimmy for some of the things that he has done for kids," said Thomas Galloway, who represents Daytona International Speedway and is chairman of the non-profit youth Foundation's Board of Directors.

The Sheriff's Youth Foundation was founded in 1994 to work with law enforcement to combat juvenile problems and fund crime prevention programs and wholesome activities for underprivileged youths.

"Youth has always been one of our great loves," said Lois Taylor, James' widow. "We pray for these children and we've worked with them all of these years. We're just proud to be a part of this." The Youth Camp in Barberville is one of the five around the state that are operated by the Florida Sheriffs Youth Ranches, Inc. The 200-acre, wooded camp provides a setting for a variety of trust-building and teamwork exercises and outdoor activities, including a challenge course, canoeing, swimming, horseback riding and nature hikes. The Youth Camp also offers an opportunity for law enforcement officers to interact with young people and serve as positive role models.

"This certainly means a lot to us to have someone so special to be willing to give to the youth of this state and the youth of this country," said Bill Frye, Youth Ranches' director of camping services. "We're very grateful."

Taylor, a former Pierson fernery owner, died in October 1998 at the age of 71.

Child Advocacy Center Started in NW Florida

The system of processing a child who has been abused is simply not working. It's antiquated, fragmented, harsh and ineffective. It requires the child to be bounced around to as many as a dozen places to be interviewed, examined, deposed and assessed by new, strange faces asking new, often confusing questions.

And usually because of this treatment, the child becomes so frustrated, so frightened, that he or she gives up. Simply gives out and refuses to testify or recants the original allegations.

The perpetrator never gets charged. The child gets more abuse. And the trained, dedicated professionals who are handcuffed by this impossible system get frustrated because their efforts have failed.

Okaloosa and Walton counties have organized an effort to change the system. They have raised money to build a Children's Advocacy Center in Niceville. This 2-story, 12,000 sq. ft. structure will house all the disciplines involved in child abuse cases, including: Children Protective Services, medical, mental health, law enforcement and legal services.

It will provide a child-friendly environment where all interviews, examinations and assessments will be conducted under one roof, in a supportive environment.

Besides helping the victims, the Children's Advocacy Center will mean more arrests and successful prosecutions of child abusers.

Donors Beware

The Florida Sheriffs Association was alerted by members who are being solicited by another law enforcement organization - the Florida Sheriffs Deputies Association, Inc. This group seeks corporate sponsorships to help fund the cost of "improving the lives of all deputies in this state." While they chose a similar name and logo, the Florida Sheriffs Deputies Association is in no way connected or affiliated with FSA. Thanks to the generosity and support of its Honorary and Business Members, the Florida Sheriffs Association offers an array of benefits and services to its Law Enforcement Members. We will continue our long standing tradition of fighting crime and organizing resources for the law enforcement community. Don't be fooled: If you are going to make a charitable donation to a law enforcement organization, make sure you know who they are, how long they've been around and how they spend their money. Give wisely.

Sheriff Makes Largest Donation In History to FSyr

Monroe County Sheriff Rick Roth made the largest single contribution by any Sheriff to the Florida Sheriffs Youth Ranches. At the Florida Sheriffs Association annual conference in January, Sheriff Roth presented a check in the amount of $100,000 to the Youth Ranches. The money was a portion of funds seized from a marijuana smuggler.

Working with U.S. Customs agents, the Monroe County Sheriffs Office conducted an investigation spanning several years, which culminated in the largest single currency seizure made by U.S. Customs in the history of the agency - $50 million. ★ STAR BRIEF*FDLE DNA Database Solving More Crimes

Every Sheriff in Florida has been able to solve at least one crime because of samples housed in the Florida Department of Law Enforcement's DNA database. It's not the largest in the nation, says FDLE Commissioner Tim Moore, but it's the most effective. The database now has 63,000 entries – blood samples taken from those convicted of crimes such as sexual battery, sexual assault, murder and kidnapping – what FDLE terms "threshold offenses."

FDLE will seek funding in the 2000 Legislature to expand the database with samples from those convicted of other crimes, since 52% of convicts with DNA samples have prior offenses.

★ STAR BRIEF

Youth Ranch Milestones

When two Florida Sheriffs proposed their plan to establish a Ranch to help care for troubled boys, not even they could have predicted its continued success. Their intention was to reach out to a handful of at-risk youth, offer them a safe place to grow, and a home to work through their daily problems. They wanted to help stop the spread of juvenile delinquency and neglect.

As the Youth Ranches reaches the dawn of a new century, new goals and dreams are being created. They will be built on the strong foundation laid in 1957 by the Sheriffs. Here are just a few of the Youth Ranch Milestones in 1999:

FSYR received the largest single gift annuity (nearly $1 million) in the history of the organization.

The debut of the Florida Sheriffs Youth Ranches Specialty License Plate – sales are doing well.

Project Harmony and Summer Camp programs served 1,000 more children than the previous year.

A record breaking auction raised over $100,000 for Youth Ranches boys and girls.

Ground was broken at the Youth Ranch Bradenton/Sarasota for construction on a new cottage.

Criminal Justice Academy Named For Sheriff

Students studying criminal justice at Gulf Coast Community College will be able to learn a great deal just by studying the life of the man whose name is on the building: Florida Sheriff Charles H. Abbott

"The great-great-grandson of the man who served as Sheriff of Northwest Florida in 1825, when it was a territory, Charlie Abbott was appointed Sheriff of Bay County by the governor in 1961."

Visiting campus is nothing unusual for Abbott, who has been involved in every aspect of the law-enforcement program at GCCC since it began, including service as a founding and sustaining member of (Bay County Sheriff 1961 - 1963). Based on a recommendation by GCCC president Bob McSpadden, the District Board of Trustees named the college's new law enforcement training facility in North Bay County for the man who has inspired many.

The decision to name the planned facility the "Charles H. Abbott Criminal Justice Training Academy" was announced at a meeting last year to a surprised Charlie Abbott, who had been invited under the pretense that he was to speak to a group of students.

the Law Enforcement Advisory Committee and as a valuable guide during a period between program directors.

The facility that will bear Abbott's name is located off County Road 2300, just north of Southport. The $1.5 million, 15,000-sq.-ft. office and classroom facility is the centerpiece for the college's criminal justice training complex planned for the location. Appropriately, the building is named for someone who has been at the core of the college's criminal justice

Public Safety Issues in 2000

The past few years have been productive ones for public safety in the Florida Legislature (see Crime Report page 55). Capitalizing on the momentum, your Florida Sheriffs plan to continue to work with lawmakers to assure a tough stance on criminals and support of law-enforcement efforts.

While a crime package was still being assembled at press time, following are the specific positions your Florida Sheriffs plan to support in the 2000 session.

Sheriffs' positions

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT tougher juvenile crime initiatives, such as adult sanctions for serious juvenile crimes. Confidentiality and other provisions that unnecessarily fail to treat juvenile offenders as criminals should be eliminated.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT the continued construction of additional state prison beds to lock dangerous criminals away for an appropriate sentence. Innovative methods to build prisons expeditiously should be fully utilized. Work camps and other concepts should be considered. Unnecessary restrictions on prison construction, such as space requirements, should be eliminated.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT legislative proposals that would streamline the death penalty appeals process and speed up the ability to carry out lawfully imposed death sentences.

The Sheriffs will OPPOSE any further weakening of current contraband forfeiture standards, altering the Sheriffs' 1995 proposal passed by the Legislature.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT legislation proposing limitations on postconviction appeals.

The Sheriffs will OPPOSE any efforts to impose Department of Corrections Jail Inspections on the Sheriff's Office.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT an amendment to Florida's Constitution to further establish state policy that criminals must serve at least 85 percent of their lawfully imposed sentences.

The Sheriffs will OPPOSE any efforts to privatize the county jails.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT legislation limiting the use of discovery depositions in criminal cases.

The Sheriffs will OPPOSE any legislation that reduces the authority of the sheriff to serve/execute any judicial process, including altering responsibility for executing arrest warrants.

The Sheriffs will OPPOSE any legislation that proposes to limit the authority of the Sheriff to operate county-wide.

The Sheriffs will OPPOSE any legislation that takes away the Sheriff's right to appeal their budgets.

The Sheriffs will OPPOSE Police Benevolent Association (PBA) legislation that proposes changes to the Law Enforcement Officers Bill of Rights to reduce the ability of the Sheriff to discipline officers for wrongdoing.

The Sheriffs will OPPOSE any legislation or efforts to impose a mandatory pre-trial release program that would take away the discretion of the judge or Sheriff.

The Sheriffs will OPPOSE any legislation that grants or expands the authority of private citizens, groups or associations, private investigators, certified process servers, special process servers or others to serve civil process or which provides for the appointment, license and regulation of statewide service of judicial (civil) process.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT legislation exempting law-enforcement officers from the three-day waiting period when purchasing firearms, as concealed weapons permit holders are currently exempt.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT legislation that clearly enables the Department of Juvenile Justice to house categories of inmates (i.e. female juveniles) for which the Sheriff does not have space.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT efforts to enable officers to recapture lost retirement benefits for those years when the factor was reduced from 3 percent.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT legislation that allows for the assignment of a public defender from another circuit in conflict murder or other capital felony cases to provide financial relief to counties.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT a statewide pawn broker/property recovery database.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT legislation that would prohibit individuals from obtaining vehicle tag information through the tax collector's office because of the danger of stalking or otherwise victimizing citizens.

The Sheriffs will OPPOSE any revived efforts to alter the 1994 career service agreement.

The Sheriffs will OPPOSE any efforts to enact mandatory accreditation on Sheriffs' Offices as this can be used as a vehicle to impose restrictive policies on use of force, pursuit, contraband forfeiture, personnel actions, etc.

The Sheriffs will OPPOSE any proposals that would prohibit the Florida Highway Patrol from working traffic on roads other than state highways.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT legislation that will shift the financial responsibility to the state Department of Corrections for transporting, housing, feeding and medical care of inmates in the county jail who are picked up for violation of probation.

The Sheriffs will OPPOSE any excessive increases in warrantless arrest powers for state law-enforcement officers.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT establishment of a more efficient manner by which to handle old outstanding warrant cases or other cases where no arrests have been made on pending charges and which would allow law enforcement to more effectively prioritize and review outstanding warrants.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT making non-compliance with Florida's seat belt-laws a primary offense.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT legislation that would allow members of the Special Risk Retirement class to retain their 3 percent benefit in the event they are promoted to a higher position.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT legislation that would increase the amount of disability pay for an officer injured in the line of duty from the present benefit of 42 percent to 65 percent of the officer's average monthly compensation.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT legislation that would set standards and minimum requirements regarding the use of the name "Law Enforcement" for the purposes of soliciting charitable donations and eliminate fraudulent charitable solicitation activities.

The Sheriffs will OPPOSE legislation that would remove the sovereign immunity limitations on the liability of the Sheriffs' Office and other governmental entities in lawsuits.

The Sheriffs will OPPOSE efforts to require counties to pay for the medical costs of persons who are not and should not be arrested.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT proposed legislation that would allow members of the Special Risk Retirement Class to retire after 20 years.

The Sheriffs will SUPPORT shortened terms of vesting for members of the Florida Retirement System.

Florida Sheriffs' Top Three Priorities

Reclaiming the 3% Benefit for Special Risk. The Sheriffs will seek legislation which will allow members of the Special Risk Retirement Class to recapture the 3% retirement benefit for the years from 1978 to 1993, when the benefit fell below 3%.

Special Risk Disability Benefits – The Sheriffs will seek increase disability benefits for Special Risk officers from 42% to 65% for in-the-line-of-duty injuries.

Juvenile Crime – The Sheriffs will seek tougher juvenile crime initiatives such as reinstatement of juvenile prisons, improved detention criteria and adult sanctions for serious juvenile crimes. Record confidentiality and other provisions which unnecessarily fail to treat juvenile offenders as criminals would be eliminated.

Crime Report: Florida's "Get Tough" Legislation Making An Impact

In the 1990s, Florida Sheriffs led the fight to create strong legislation and reverse the alarming trend of increased crime. In this special report, The Sheriff's Star revisits the events that helped shape Florida's new "get tough" criminal justice policy.

Criminals getting a free ride in Florida

Let's face it. In the 1980s, criminals had it easy in Florida. Following the 1983 Sentencing Guidelines legislation (touted as a tool to assure more consistent sentencing), time served by prisoners began to plummet. There were no new appropriations for prison beds, either, and what happened? Crime increased. Especially violent crimes.

Parole was eliminated in October 1983, so to ease prison overcrowding, prison sentences were reduced through statutorily mandated earned and unearned gaintime. Beginning in 1987, additional sentence reductions occurred through early prison release resulting from court ordered capacity limits.

Basic gaintime reduced sentences by one-third upon entering prison. Incentive gaintime gave them up to 20 days per month served.

Suddenly a prison sentence had minimal relationship to the actual time criminals spent in prison. Criminals and their legal counsel knew it.

In 1985, Florida had one of the highest crime rates in the nation — it increased 15% to a total of 860,957 crimes in one year. The state was gaining a reputation for being soft on crime. We practically rolled out the welcome mat for the bad guys.

1990: A reversal begins

Thankfully, through the teamwork of your Florida Sheriffs and lawmakers, Florida was able to lay a new foundation for crime fighting policies, create strong legislation and reverse the trend beginning in the 1990s. Today, the state is sending a different message to criminals: Florida has a zero tolerance for crime.

A study conducted last year confirmed that criminals sentenced to prison today will serve significantly longer time incarcerated than in the past two decades. And crime has decreased to the lowest levels in decades.

Rep. Victor Crist has been a friend to Sheriffs in their crime fighting mission. Crist sponsored the House version of the "Three Strikes Violent Felony Offender Act" — the Sheriffs No. 1 priority in 1999.

A correlation?

Your Florida Sheriffs think so.

How did Florida turn the tide on crime? By 1993, it had reached crisis proportions, as criminals were serving only 20% of their sentences. State Senator Locke Burt successfully pushed through a plan to build more prison beds as a more logical way to ease prison overcrowding, rather than granting early release.

Still, the same year, the opposition managed to pass what they called the "Safe Streets Act" — a plan sold to go easier on non-violent criminals in order to ease overcrowding of prisons and get tough on the violent ones.

But the Sheriffs knew better. They recognized it for what it was: A plan that would create what they termed "unsafe streets."

Many people would agree this was the real turning point for Florida Sheriffs. They organized themselves and wrote a legislative agenda that would try to restore law and order in Florida communities. They targeted three areas contributing to our crime rate: 1) there were not enough prison beds to house criminals, 2) criminals weren't being given stiff enough sentencing, 3) the prisoners were serving less of their sentences because of gain time and other credits.

In 1994, early release was discontinued and more money was appropriate for prison beds. The state prison bed capacity increased 50% and Florida started realizing the effects.

Juvenile crime was on the increase, so legislators — with the support of Sheriffs — addressed it by taking responsibility for juvenile detention out of the social work setting and instead creating a new state agency devoted to reversing this trend. The Department of Juvenile Justice was born.

The 1995 legislative session was a counter revolution of sorts for public safety in the state. More money was appropriated for prison beds and your Florida Sheriffs, represented by Manatee County Sheriff Charlie Wells, led the fight to have all criminals serve a minimum of 85% of their sentences. Still, 85% of nothing is nothing. Under the Sentencing Guidelines, criminals were not getting the sentences they deserved.

Lawmakers were celebrating over the crime rate dropping 6.5%. As Senator Locke Burt described it, "What that means to victims is over 20,000 fewer homes were burglarized in 1995 than in 1994. Three thousand fewer people were robbed, and over 1,000 fewer people were raped or molested. Over 13,000 fewer cars were stolen and 136 fewer people were murdered."

Crime Report:
Florida's "Get Tough" Legislation

What Were Sentencing Guidelines?

Many people didn't understand the Sentencing Guidelines, and therefore had difficulty understanding the importance of their abolishment. Sentencing Guidelines legislation was created in 1983 purportedly as a way to address disparities in sentencing and reduce the chance for racial discrimination. The guidelines instead caused great confusion among judges, tied their hands when it came to getting tough with criminals and allowed many to use the rules as a shield from criticism for being soft on crime. The result was no or low prison sentences. It didn't reduce the number of minorities, either. On June 30, 1983, 48.7% of state prisoners were African-Americans; on June 30, 1994, African Americans represented 57.9% of the state prison population.

Florida Sheriffs also discovered that judges were departing from the guidelines upward only 2 percent of the time and downward (giving lower sentences) 43% of the time. Abolishing the guidelines would be the only way to achieve "truth in sentencing," so judges could return to assigning appropriate sentences based on the crime. Thanks to lawmakers, who wisely abolished the guidelines in 1997 – effective in 1998 — judges can now impose the maximum penalty without consulting some complicated formula, or fearing for repercussions. The message to criminals: The system is no longer going to be soft on crime. Sarasota County Sheriff Geoffrey Monge, then president of FSA, was credited with helping lawmakers understand how Sentencing Guidelines contributed to the crime rate. Sen. Jim Horne (R-Jacksonville) and Rep. Carlos Valdes (R-Miami) sponsored the legislation.

The Florida Sheriffs would like to bid a fond farewell to Maury Kolchakian, director of legislative affairs, who started with the Sheriffs in 1989 and joined the Governor Jeb Bush administration last November as Assistant Director of the Department of Environmental Protection Law Enforcement division. Kolchakian played a pivotal role in organizing the fight for public safety legislation in the 1990s, organizing the Sheriffs and paving the way with Senators and Representatives. We wish you well, Maury.

The spring of 1996 brought changes in the nuts & bolts of public safety. It protected law abiding citizens from the ridiculous lawsuits brought on by criminals when they were injured while committing a crime. Through the Criminal Lawsuits legislation, penalties are now imposed on those who burglarize citizens' homes and then sue the citizen if they are injured.

Lawmakers also backed the Criminal Appeal Reform Act, which restricts frivolous appeals in criminal cases. For example, if a person pleads guilty, he cannot appeal. The law also imposes time limits on appeals in death-penalty cases. Through the new law, the Florida Supreme Court is now required to rule within two years to avoid delays in the death penalty, which imposes terrible burdens on victims.

Lawmakers also used the 1996 session to lay the groundwork for elimination of Sentencing Guidelines (see sidebar). Through the guidelines formula, a person could be caught, arrested, charged and convicted of stealing cars four times before a court could impose a prison sentence under the Sentencing Guidelines. A cocaine dealer did not qualify for any prison term until his third offense. A person had to be convicted three times of possessing child pornography with the intent to sell it before a court could impose prison.

Victory was ours in 1997 when lawmakers eliminated Sentencing Guidelines, effective October 1998. And thanks to the aggressive prison bed appropriations through the years, Florida could now accommodate 50% more prisoners than it could in 1993.

"Today, we have the best criminal sentencing laws around," says Brad Thomas, who was Council Director for the House Criminal Justice and Corrections Council during the critical years. Now policy coordinator for the public safety unit of the Governor's Office of Policy and Budget, he advises the governor on criminal justice policies.

Further efforts to curb juvenile crime paid off with the Boot Camp bill in 1998. Research showed that the average juvenile offender failed four programs before being sent to boot camp. This legislation assured supervisory jurisdiction goes to the Sheriff in the county where boot camps are located. Department of Juvenile Justice must place adjudicated juveniles into facility closest to county where they were adjudicated to assure better after care.

Next came a new administration and a pro law enforcement leadership. In 1999 – Florida Governor Jeb Bush rallied behind two major pieces of criminal justice legislation: 10-20-Life and Three Strikes. Following the session, posters and billboards went up in communities throughout the state sending a strong message to criminals: You do the crime, you serve the time.

"The Sheriffs are the big heroes," says Thomas. "They were there for every one of these reforms. They were always there, making presentations at committee meetings. They were there protecting the people of the state. Everybody in Florida owes them a real debt of gratitude."

The Road to Safe Streets: Stiff Sentences as Deterrents, Meaningful Incarceration for Repeat Offenders

The historical legislative timeline helps explain why the crime rate is down. News from Florida's Department of Corrections confirms the theory. For all crime types combined, the average prison sentence today will result in 5.4 years of imprisonment, a 218% increase from the 1.7 average 10 years ago.

Violent offenders, on average, will serve 8.6 years in prison today, a 132% increase from 10 years ago.

Some specific crime areas:

Offenders who have been sentenced to prison for murder or manslaughter will serve an average of 19.6 years in prison under the minimum 85% of sentence served policy compared to 13 years under the old parole system and 12.5 years when early prison release existed.

Offenders convicted today of second degree murder will serve much more time in prison today – 21.3 years – than any time over the past two decades, and they will serve significantly more time than the low of 6.8 years in FY1986-87.

Sexual battery offenders, on average, served actual prison terms of 8.3 years in FY 1988-89. In FY 1998-99, these offenders will serve an average of 13.3 years – a 62% increase.

Offenders convicted of armed robbery will serve more prison time today – 10.2 years – than any time over the past 20 years, and they will serve significantly more time today than the low of 2.8 years in 1987-88.

Property offenders sentenced to prison in the latest fiscal year (1998-99) will serve 3.9 years compared to 1.0 years in FY 1988-89.

A prison sentence for auto theft in FY 1998-99 resulted in an average of 3 years of incarceration compared to less than a year in FY 1987-88 – a 200% increase.

education program since the beginning.

Abbott has attended every law-enforcement graduation ceremony since the program began, and the college recognizes his extraordinary service through the annual Charles H. Abbott Award for Academic Excellence, given to the student in each law-enforcement class with the highest academic achievement. He has been a member of the Gulf Coast Community College Foundation, Inc., for 28 years and has served as a four-term director and two-term treasurer. He and his beloved late wife, Mary, were benefactors of the foundation for many years.

In a resolution to name the criminal justice training academy, the Board of Trustees said, "Charles H. Abbott is the quintessential friend of the college, the kind of friend all institutions should have, one whose commitment and support are uncompromising and concretely demonstrated. He serves as the conscience and history of the organization; reminding us of our values, steering us toward the future, while grounding us in our past."

Born in Pensacola in 1910, Charlie Abbott has been devoted to Northwest Florida all his life, working to enhance the quality of life for all citizens through his civic work and devotion to educational programs. He served our country with distinction and honor in World War II as a Chief Electrician

Mate in the U.S. Navy stationed in San Diego, San Francisco and Pearl Harbor.

Except for his years in the service, he has lived in Bay County since 1937 working as district manager of Gulf Power Company and as owner of Abbott Refrigeration. The great-great-grandson of the man who served as Sheriff of Northwest Florida in 1825, when it was a territory, Charlie was appointed Sheriff of Bay County by the governor in 1961 where he served for two years and was director of the Law Enforcement Assistance Center for 16 years. It was in this position that he promoted law-enforcement training throughout Northwest Florida and became involved at GCCC.

An outstanding athlete who lettered in baseball, basketball, football and track in high school before becoming a professional baseball player with the Southeastern League, Charlie Abbott played against Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, among others, and went to spring training with the Boston Red Sox in 1930, before a knee injury ended his major league aspirations.

Charlie Abbott has continued to serve his community in various charitable ways, including Elder Emeritus at the First Presbyterian Church, volunteering with the Boys Club and through the rotary Club of Lynn Haven.

Orange County SO Explorers Visit Counterparts in England

*By Jim Solomons
Public Information Officer
Orange County Sheriff's Office*

Nineteen Orange County Sheriff's Office Explorers and their advisers enjoyed a once-in-a-lifetime busman's holiday to London, England, where they received a first-hand look at law enforcement — British style. The group traveled to England from July 21 to August 4 as the guests of the Harrow-in-the-Hill Volunteer Cadets, London's Metropolitan Police force's counterpart to the Sheriff's Office Explorer program in the U.S.

While in England, the Explorers were treated to a myriad of law enforcement experiences that ranged from visiting the Hanslow Training Center (where they observed British police officers undergoing advanced, hands-on training for dealing with large-scale civil disorders) to observing our overseas counterparts go through the paces at a police driving academy. Some of the agency's Explorers participated in the training by being "drafted" into role playing in a variety of scenarios and riding shift with London traffic enforcement units.

Despite being worlds apart, the Orange County Explorers were no strangers to their hosts from Harrow-in-the-Hills. The young cadets from the United Kingdom spent a portion of their summer

Members of the Orange County Sheriff's Office Explorer Post and their advisers journeyed to England in July where they spent two weeks getting a first-hand look at how police agencies work in the United Kingdom. Their trip was in response to a visit by several British Explorers last year where their European counterparts spent a week touring the Orange County Sheriff's Office. Plans are already underway for the youngsters from England to return to Orange County in summer 2000.

visiting Florida last year where they were the guests of many of the Explorers who had come to visit them.

"This is what our Explorer Program is all about," said Dep. Noel Beary-Nyquist, Director of the Sheriff's Office Explorer Program. "We have great kids who have expressed a strong and sincere desire to pursue a career in law enforcement. I am pleased that we are able to provide these fine young men and women with an opportunity that is educational, consistent with the goals and objectives of our Explorer Program — and fun, too."

While the trip was indeed all of the above, the Explorers had to work to get there. "Everyone who made the trip had to come up with $400 of their own, or half the plane fare, right off the bat," said Beary-Nyquist. The remaining cost of the trip was funded by a lot of hard work by the post. A number of barbecues, skeet shoot events, candy sales, and other Explorer activities helped fund the trip.

"Their hard work really paid off," added Beary-Nyquist. "Not only did they earn their own way as a team, but once they were there, they lived with many of the Cadets' families, which was culturally enlightening."

Used to their American lifestyles, some of the young Explorers were surprised to see just how different life can be in other countries. They were surprised that the homes they were staying in were built before the turn of the century. They quickly learned to appreciate the little things we normally take for granted like a readily available source of ice for their drinks, washers and dryers in the homes, and parents who are quick to drive their kids wherever and whenever they wanted to go. Dep. Beary-Nyquist suggested there was some mumbling and grumbling heard from the ranks as the group had to use an alternate mode of transportation – walking – and run to catch a subway during their stay in the suburbs of London. But their effort was well worth it.

The Explorers' itinerary was full, and while it included time for traditional summer activities like kayaking and canoeing, there was so much more to do and see. In addition to experiencing the traditional sights and sounds of London such as Big Ben, Buckingham Palace, and the original Hard Rock Café, the Florida Explorers were treated to a VIP tour of the Wapping Police Station. Wapping, located on the banks of the Thames River, has the distinction of being the oldest uniform police station in England.

The youngsters were also privileged to witness the last Royal Tournament ever to be held in the United Kingdom. This annual event, featuring law enforcement and military exhibitions and contests, has been a 300-year tradition in England. The tournament features military pipe bands, police motorcycle stunt shows, a Royal Air Force K-9 demonstration and a unique Royal Navy "timed" event that requires its participants to dismantle a cannon, pick up and carry all of its pieces to another location, reassemble it, and successfully fire it.

In addition to Dep. Beary-Nyquist, Dep. Eric Moon, Dep. Debra Clouchete, Lashaun Braddock and Ceil Lewis accompanied the Orange County Sheriff's Explorers. Despite the short supply of ice for their drinks and the absence of a "mom or pop" chauffeur service, everyone who made the trek had a great time and an experience they will remember and cherish for a lifetime. And, best of all, the story does not end here. The Harrow-in-the-Hill Cadets are already booked for a return visit to the Sunshine State and their Explorer counterparts in Orange County during July and August of 2000. A new and meaningful tradition of cultural exchange and forging life-long friendships has been born. Orange County's Explorers are already looking forward to the next visit.

Addressing School Violence Through Community Partnerships

The National Crime Prevention Council has published a helpful guide for reducing crime, violence and drug abuse in our schools. The booklet, "Safer Schools: Strategies for Educators and Law Enforcement Seeking to Prevent Violence Within Schools," includes important information for promoting partnerships to reduce the number of incidents within a community. Every community member – teacher, parent, law enforcer and business owner – can play a role in the reduction of school violence. Some ideas:

Factors in the school environment. Florida's Department of Education has identified ten components of school environment that affect safety:

- School climate
- Student monitoring and discipline
- Policies and planning
- Prevention and intervention programs
- Leadership and staff development
- Communications
- Facilities
- Transportation
- Partnerships
- School neighborhood and community

Factors in the student population. Recognizing and reporting indicators for the potential of crime, violence and drug abuse to law enforcement or other officials is an important step in the process of reducing incidents. These indicators include:

- Grades beginning to fall
- Change in friends
- Child spends a lot of time alone (depression)
- Cruelty to animals

- Sudden changes in clothing or style of dress
- Access to large amounts of cash
- Shortened temper and sudden outbursts of anger
- Fascination with weapons
- Threats of violence to self or others
- Persistent disregard for or refusal to follow rules
- Involvement with or interest in gangs
- History of bullying
- Expressions of violence in drawings and writings

No one indicator should be reason for alarm. Multiple indicators suggest increased potential risk of a student participating in violence or using drugs. These behaviors usually appear suddenly, but they may evolve over a period of time.

What's working: Being "On the Scene." An idea that is one of the most promising for reducing violence in schools is not metal detectors or mesh backpacks — but law enforcement officers in schools. Whether as school resource officers (permanently assigned to that school or school cluster), as school system police, or community policing officers who work with the school, they are making a difference. Officers at school – not as enforcers, but as helpers and problem solvers — can spot trouble and help identify preventative solutions or needed interventions. They can build positive relationships with students and staff, offer counseling and access to community resources. These officers get to know the children's personal situations and their normal behaviors – all of which can help in spotting and heading off trouble.

Citizens Step In to Help Officers in Volusia County

By: Gary Davidson
Public Information Officer
Volusia County Sheriff's Office

All around the country, we hear horror stories about bystanders who refuse to offer aid in an emergency, and citizens who would rather turn their backs than get involved.

Not in Volusia County. In two recent incidents, residents didn't hesitate to lend a hand – one on his own and the other when asked for assistance.

On October 11, deputies responded to a 1:18 a.m. report of five boaters – including three children ages 5 through 11 – who had failed to return from an outing. Numerous law-enforcement units joined the search, and in an hour a Sheriff's Office helicopter spotted the crew stranded on Lake Woodruff in Volusia County. With the nearest law enforcement boat several miles away – deputies decided to ask for assistance from Donald Marshall who lived on the lake. Though it was the middle of the night, and the deputies woke him from sleep, Marshall agreed and took a deputy out on his boat. The two rescued the crew and towed their aluminum craft almost six miles to safety.

After spending six hours adrift on the lake – lost and out of fuel – the crew was bug bitten and cold, but otherwise in fine condition.

Marshall, an avid fisherman, was presented with a certificate of appreciation from the Volusia County Sheriff's Office. He shrugged off his good deed as doing no more than what he hoped others would do if he was ever stranded. Still, Sheriff's Office Capt. John Szaroleta told Marshall, "It was a breath of fresh air to have you give us the help and assistance we needed."

In another incident, on October 28, deputies Dean Hall and Greg Piser were conducting a routine traffic stop on a blue Honda. While running a driver's license check, the deputies detected a strong marijuana odor coming from the car and spotted a small amount of marijuana on the seat. In the course of arresting the driver, one of the deputies managed to slip a handcuff on him before he began a violent struggle to break free. As the two deputies tried to restrain him, he continued to fight the officers and the trio toppled into a ditch. The suspect then tried to grab one of their guns.

The struggle continued into the roadway, where passing motorist Robert Rinto stopped his car and joined the lawmen in trying to subdue the suspect. The good Samaritan grabbed the subject around the waist, but he got away after biting Rinto on the left arm.

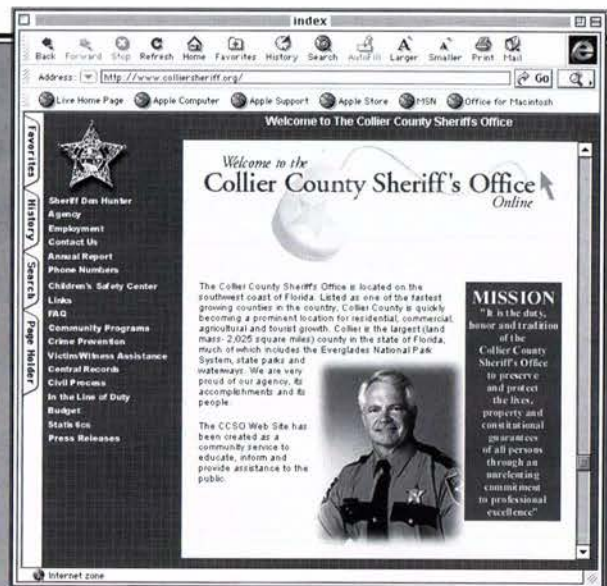

"He was pretty tough. I almost had him down a couple of times," Rinto recalled later.

The suspect was captured after a nearly four-hour search and was charged with aggravated battery, two counts of battery on a law enforcement officer, two counts of resisting arrest with violence, possession of marijuana under 20 grams and burglary. He told deputies he bolted because he already was on probation and did not want to go back to jail.

School Shootings: A New Kind of Criminal, A New Kind of Crime

By St. Johns County Sheriff Neil J. Perry

The days of saying "it can't happen here" are over.

Recent attacks by students on students in communities such as Paducah, KY, Springfield, Ore., and Jefferson County, CO, clearly show that we who live in what we consider to be quiet, somewhat placid areas are not immune to the horror and ugliness of such violence.

The reasons behind these horrific crimes are so complicated and complex that psychologists, criminologists and sociologists will be studying them for a long time to discover exactly what it is that persuades a child to kill other children.

But we as law enforcement officers have to be concerned with the moment. The sheer number of incidents in recent years makes it obvious that they are not isolated occurrences or aberrations we can just shrug off with the assumption that they can't happen in our own backyards.

This is a new crime and a new kind of criminal. Whatever the root causes might be, the recognizable truth is that they are not random acts. They go to the hearts of those who commit them. Hopefully, we will find the means to soften their hearts. In the meantime, we must be prepared to deal with the violence.

In other words – we must do our job – which is to protect the innocent victims of these crimes.

Law-enforcement agencies have not been ready for these attacks on our school children. The need to be prepared for such unthinkable crimes caught us by surprise. Old tactics – those that have proven to be effective in bank holdups or hostage situations – don't work.

Too much blood has flowed. We must develop new tactics to meet this new kind of crime.

For that reason, St. Johns County has begun training out deputies on how to react if such a situation should occur here. We call it the "Primary Entry" policy.

St. Johns County has begun training deputies on how to react in an incident such as Columbine High School. Called "Primary Entry," the main focus is to get well-trained, well equipped deputies into the school as quickly as possible to defuse the situation.

The main focus of the program is to get well-trained, well-equipped deputies into the school where the incident is occurring as quickly as possible in order to defuse the situation. These events, after all, happen quickly. They last just moments – usually less than 10 minutes – and result in either the surrender or suicide of the shooters.

In every instance on record, the criminals have been successful. They have done what they set out to do – that is, leave dead and wounded classmates or school staff in their wake.

Because these events happen so quickly and are immediately violent, there is no time for law enforcement to set up or get special equipment to the scene. Nor is there time to call in a special team and wait for them to make preparations and plans.

Reaction has to be fast. Getting an officer into the school to confront the shooters has to happen before they have time to carry out their plans. Only in that way can there be any hope of stopping the continued bloodshed after law enforcement's arrival.

While the search is going on inside the school, the second supervisor must make sure the outside is secure and set up a location for those fleeing the building to gather.

We may not be capable of predicting the onset of the event, but we can reduce the number of casualties.

That means whichever officer is closest to the scene when the incident occurs, has to be trained and equipped to deal with the situation. Whether that is the school resource officer already in the school, a patrol deputy who is nearby or a warrant server who happens to arrive on the scene first – that officer has to be trained to respond.

Even with that said, not every deputy in our Sheriff's Office is physically and psychologically capable of handling such an assignment. In fact, I doubt if there is an agency anywhere in the country that can claim that all of its officers are suited for such a demanding and stressful job.

But, while the clock is ticking, there are hundreds of things that must be done in a very short period of time. The object is to get enough people trained so that a significant number of those among the first at the scene can provide the "Primary Entry" function. Believe me, the deputies who go through the training know whether or not they are suited to the task. And their supervisors know as well.

How Primary Entry works

Once a 9-1-1 call has come in reporting that shots have been fired at a school, the first deputy on the scene notifies dispatch of his or her arrival, then determines if the shooting is ongoing. If the situation is continuing, that deputy waits for a supervisor and a second deputy to arrive. If he/she determines that it was a single shot fired and not a major incident, normal procedures are followed. The first arriving supervisor will make certain the deputies' radios are synchronized on a specified channel to ensure unhampered communication, then determine the best entry points to the school.

The supervisor will then select which deputies will go into the school. We believe it is best that no more than four be sent to search for shooters. They will go in as teams of two with their mission being to eliminate the threat. These teams must be prepared to meet significant challenges. They must not become pinned down, nor can they stop to assist the wounded. They must find the shooter or shooters as quickly as possible and take the necessary action to stop the violence.

While this search is going on, the second supervisor to arrive at the scene will have several tasks to perform, including:

- Making sure that rescue units, the agency's helicopter and special teams are responding
- Posting at least one deputy at each entry to the building to check those fleeing the building for weapons and directing them to safe ground.
- Establishing an outside perimeter to ensure containment
- Setting up a location for those fleeing the building to gather
- Assigning personnel to close down nearby roadways and allow for emergency vehicles to have access
- Establishing triage, a command post and sites for parents and the media. If the shooters leave the building, these officers must take action to prevent re-entry.
- Staying with the first supervisor to coordinate communication with dispatch and the command post.

The idea behind Primary Entry is to get trained deputies on the scene as quickly as possible. It is a pro-active program designed to enable law enforcement to take whatever steps are available to end a potentially deadly situation as quickly as possible and to prevent continued violence after their arrival.

There's no doubt, the officers who go into such situations are at risk. But that is the job we are sworn to do, to put ourselves at risk in order to protect the innocent. There is no place more deserving of that protection than our schools – and no one who needs it more than our children.

Put a star on your car

For over 42 years the Florida Sheriffs Youth Ranches has relied on a generous family of donors to help provide life-saving programs and services to Florida's needy, neglected youth. Through a wide range of cash, as well as, non-cash donations, wills, bequests, gift annuities and an array of many other unique ways to give, the Youth Ranches has helped over 40,000 boys, girls and their families by saving them from the grips of abuse and delinquency, and repairing the bonds of broken families.

Unfortunately today, more and more troubled children need the help and support of Florida's caring citizens. That is why the Florida Sheriffs Youth Ranches petitioned to receive an official specialty license plate through the Florida Legislature. The Youth Ranches' tag is just another fantastic way each and every Floridian can help "Florida's Charity for Florida's Children." Many of the Youth Ranches' faithful supporters have already purchased their plates, but we are still short of our goal. The troubled children of Florida desperately need your help.

For more specific cost details or more information on how you, too, can step to the plate for Florida's youth, please contact your local Tax Collector or Tag Office. And remember, the cost of your Florida Sheriffs Youth Ranches Specialty License Plate (usually $20 plus appropriate taxes and processing fees) is completely tax deductible and considered a charitable contribution.

Thank You For Caring and Sharing!
